By our Staff Reporter

Dehradun, 25 May - Forest Research Institute, Dehradun, celebrated the 135th birth anniversary of Rash Behari Bose here, today, in virtual mode. Anup Singh Rawat, Director General, Indian Council of Forestry Research & Education, and Director, FRI, was the Chief Guest.

Rawat recalled that Rash Behari Bose was one of the most prominent Indian revolutionaries. He worked to free India from British imperialism. From the Delhi Conspiracy to the formation of the Indian National Army, Bose played a crucial role in the history of the Indian freedom movement.

Bose joined the Government press in Simla at his father’s wish. He was appointed the copy holder of the press and was able to learn English and typewriting. Later, he worked in Kanpur, but he was not happy with such jobs. He came to Dehradun as a guard in the house of Pran Nath Tagore. He spent some time at the Forest Research Institute (FRI) in the Doon valley and stayed at Gosthi Gali in Pahan Bazaar. Having quit his home city of Calcutta due to the intolerable Alipore Bench Case (1908), Bose’s tenure at FRI as a Forestry Clerk was the most defining moment in his revolutionary career. The Bengal song of the revolutionary party sent him to Dehradun with the purpose of converting members of the Indian Army to a revolutionary civil. Rash Behari tried to get himself enlisted in the Army, but he could not succeed. He then joined the Forest Research Institute. He tried to raise recruits from among the Bengali residents in Dehradun. He maintained close contact with the revolutionary leaders in Bengal and Punjab. The job in the FRI was useful to him to execute his plans for manufacturing bombs and to direct the revolutionary movement from places which the Government did not suspect and could not easily locate.

While he was working as a clerk at the FRI, he took 27 days leave for the bomb conspiracy to assassinate Lord Charles Hardinge in 1912. By the time, the British realized who the mastermind of the conspiracy was, he moved to Japan. He joined FRI on 4 September, 1916, and was later promoted to the rank of head clerk. His service was terminated on the grounds of prolonged absence in May 1914. A medal is named after Rash Behari Bose in the FRI campus.

On this occasion, an online declamation contest was organised involving university students, in which Mansi Singh, Sudha Singh and Sanchi Paswan from FRI University bagged first, second and third prizes respectively. Shambhu, Class XII student from St. Patrick’s Academy, Dehradun, got the best poster award among school children. Naya Bahadur, Class X student of Ann Mary School and Diwakar Ujala, Class XII, students of Jesus and Mary, won the second and third prizes in this category. Among university students, Sachin Ranee and Ms. Centra Ranee from Forest Research Institute secured first and second prizes, while the third prize went to Nibha Bansal from Chandigarh University. The competitions were judged by Dr. Kala, Dr. Teja Verna and Dr. Ashab Verna. FRI Extension from FRI Dehradun.

N. Bala, Head, Forest Ecology & Climate Change Division, and Dr. Uma Devi, Coordinator, ENCIS Centre of FRI, thanked the participants.
